The parasite class has now bitten off more than it can chew. Let the fightback begin.

Summary:
Our society has an unhealthy attraction to "growth." All too often this growth is achieved by exploiting honest people that have worked all their lives to produce valued goods and services. The banking and finance system in particular has a very sordid track record of deception, misconduct and rip offs. Crime and corruption permeates our law, politics and economy. Time to clean it up - or you could be the next to be chewed up and spat out.

Chewed Up & Spat Out. Is that the best way for our country & economy to operate?

Do you have a problem with the type of society we live in? If you don't you must be pretty lucky. Many people are suffering from CUSO Syndrome. Here are a few examples showing what sufferers have dealt with:

1. Aged pensioner - worked all their life. Minimal savings at the end. Dependent on a pathetic pension. Any minor upset - car breaks down - fridge packs it in - dog gets sick - and there is a struggle to manage the unexpected bills.

2. Self funded retiree - wanted to get ahead. Various "investments" backed by "reputable" corporations, governments and banks come their way. Timbercorp, Telstra 2, Dick Smith float, Storm Financial, CBA Financial Planning, NAB Wealth. Suddenly their nest egg has been cracked, beaten, cooked and eaten by a corporate felon. The retiree is left in debt, living life on the edge without the security they have worked all their life for.

3. Small business and franchise owners - every time someone takes a risk and has a go the parasite class circles to take a cut. It doesn't matter that by doing so the odds of success become very much less. Every time a new sucker has a go - there are expenses: legal, accounting, banking, insurance, even stationery & business cards, computer technology, taxes, real estate purchase or rental, expensive and often inane regulatory requirements. The odds are stacked against honest producers, innovators and hard working people.

4. Farmers - our most critical producers have been decimated by deliberate tactics designed to force them off their land. Banks and governments working in cahoots to steal generations of hard built businesses. ANZ/Wheat Board/Landmark scandal is just one horrific example of how land has been stolen and often given to foreign interests at bargain prices. Any deal is a good deal for a banker. Buying, selling foreclosing - all boost the banks' and its hired thugs' incomes. The farmer and his family are chewed up and spat out in the greed driven quest for profits.

5. Families - In the old days one income could look after a large family quite reasonably. Now two incomes are often not enough. You also need a handful of credit cards and help from family. Families are under stress. Divorce rates are far too high. Young people feel the stress their parents are under. This is damaging our young and our nation's future.

6. The young - it is now harder for young people to get ahead. Education expenses are becoming unafforadable for many. Good stable jobs are harder to find. Home ownership is becoming out of reach for more and more people. A pathological society has developed. Young people now have little chance of having a better lifestyle than their parents. Suicide and self harm is out of control among young people right now. This is a national disgrace. Drug and alcohol abuse is related to the pressures people are facing trying to survive. Getting a healthy balance between work and the rest of one's life is almost impossible for many.

These people have all been Chewed Up & Spat Out. That's how our society operates. It's like we have pirates running the place. All the associated industries take their piece knowing full well that their "client" will likely be out of business and maybe out of their home in less than five years.

The more wealth a non-productive individual accumulates the more people they have manged to chew through. It's a numbers game folks.

A wealthy bank CEO produces nothing of real value. Same thing goes for many in law, politics and government. They don't manufacture anything; they don't grow anything; they don't feed anyone; they don't teach anything; they don't help heal anyone; they don't come up with an idea that will improve anyone's life or satisfy a worthwhile need. They don't produce something which brings joy to a soul. The existence of these "leaners" depends on sucking the life force, money and assets from the "lifters."

Without the "lifters" that provide goods and services of real value the parasite class would die. Simple as that.

Our society needs a bit of a shakeup because we can't go on like this anymore. BRN founder Dr B and his team have put an incredible effort into the battle for justice.

There will be further financial crises. Our freedoms are at risk. The vast majority of politicians are working directly against your interests. The mainstream media is distracting and misinforming you.

Are you ready to join in and fight for a better deal? Or are you going to let yourself and your kids be Chewed Up & Spat Out?
